DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 91, 92, 94-114, and 117-122 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance for claims 91, 92, 94-114, and 117-122:

Regarding independent claim 91, the prior art lacks disclosing, teaching, or fairly suggesting providing:

a shared bonus event among a group of players or machines in which:

a pool of entries are utilized;

a first input from the player places an entry into the pool of entries;

a second input from said player initiates a controller to randomly choose an entry in the pool;

if one of said players' entries are chosen, said player wins an award, if not, all of said players' entries would be removed from the pool and, at a later time, another selection from the pool of entries, which no longer include said players' entries, is chosen.

Thus, the instant invention includes skill, chance and competition. All of which greatly increase player appeal. Specifically, the skill aspect is provided when each player must decide whether or not to initiate a selection of an entry. If a player decides to initiate a selection early in the shared event, the chances of winning are slim but the rewards are great, since only the player initiating the bonus event can win at that time. On the other side, if a player decides to initiate a selection late in the shared event, the chances of winning are much higher but the rewards might be greatly reduced. As previously discussed, the chance aspect is provided by the odds of having one of the player's entries chosen to be a winning entry; and the competition aspect is provided by having to play this bonus event among a group of players.

The prior art of record, Cannon (US 6,786,824) teaches activating the at least one feature event upon qualification of a number of players in the plurality of players, wherein the number of players is at least two but does not disclose receiving an input from the player to initiate a selection that will either eliminate the players' entries from the pool or win an award and further, at a later time, if said players' entries were eliminated, selecting another entry from the pool.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
